Racine History Room Policy

Purpose of the Racine History Room

The Racine History Room has been established for scholars and researchers needing to use the unique historical Racine materials and resources located in this room.

- The Racine History Room equipment and furnishings will be used exclusively for the purpose of local history research and related activities and will be available during normal library hours. The room is not to be used as a study room.
- Those using the Racine History Room must comply with all rules and behaviors as set forth in the Library Board's "Patron Behavior Policy." Failure to do so may result in the loss of Racine History Room or library privileges.
- The Library Director shall be responsible for developing and implementing rules and regulations governing use of the Racine History Room. These procedures shall be consistent with the principles outlined in this policy.

Approved by the Library Board October 21, 2010; amended September 15, 2016
