Remember the Scholastic book fair? The library has something as good, if not better — the Fall Book Sale! Come browse thousands of gently used books for pennies on the dollar. Paperback books are priced at .50 cents, and hard-cover books are a dollar. The book sale also features DVDS, CDS, art, toys and games. All proceeds go to the Friends of the Racine Public Library, who use these funds to help bring new resources and exciting programs to the library.

Join the Friends

On top of receiving early access to the Fall Book Sale, as a Friend, you become part of an organization that:

- Advocates for the library at public budget hearings
- Distributes library information at community events
- Promotes library-oriented media coverage

- Builds presentations for special audience programming (i.e. visually impaired).
- Supplements library programs and projects not fully covered in its budget.

Annual events, including "Breakfast with the Authors," book sales, read-ins and lectures by nationally known authors.
