Gazing upon the night sky can be the start of an adventure. Learn tonight about humans' and robots' explorations in space and astronomy, including astronauts who visited the moon 50 years ago, and those who will retrace their steps later this decade. Then, we'll discuss what it would take for humans to voyage to worlds beyond the moon. We'll also explore "what's up" in the sky: the constellations mapped by sailors, shepherds, wanderers, and eventually scientists throughout time.

Exploring the Night Sky is presented by Paul Kinzer from Seeing Stars Portable Planetarium. See our full list of summer reading activities here. Adventure Begins at Your Library is sponsored by the Friends of the Racine Public Library.
